5. PRIVACY

a. Compliance with Privacy Laws. Each of us will comply with all applicable Privacy Laws when we collect or process Personal Information in connection with this Agreement. In this Section 5: Personal Information means "personal information" as defined in the Privacy Act 1988 (Cth) and any other information relating to individuals that is subject to the operation of Privacy Laws, that either party collects, receives, accesses, stores or otherwise processes in connection with this Agreement; and Privacy Laws means the Privacy Act 1988 (Cth) and any other applicable laws (to the extent they apply to each of us) in force from time to time in any Australian or non-Australian jurisdiction affecting privacy or Personal Information, including (as applicable) the General Data Protection Regulation (EU) 2-16/679. When applicable to your location, additional terms will apply to the Agreement, including the applicable terms located at www.tr.com/privacy-information.

b. Our obligations. You acknowledge that we may use and disclose the Personal Information you provide to us under this Agreement for a variety of purposes, including: (i) to supply products and services; (ii) to monitor use of our products and services for the purposes of future development and to ensure they meet your needs and interests; and (iii) to administer your account and enforce your contract, which may include disclosure of Personal Information to other members of the global Thomson Reuters group of companies. We will always collect, use and disclose Personal Information you provide to us in accordance with our Privacy Policy, as updated from time to time, available at <https://www.thomsonreuters.com/en/privacy-statement.html>. We will take reasonable steps to protect Personal Information you provide to us from unauthorised access, use, disclosure and loss, using commercially appropriate security practices and technologies. On termination of this Agreement, we will: (i) provide to you, where reasonably requested, all Personal Information you have provided to us that is in our possession; (ii) cease using your Personal Information; and (iii) to the extent reasonably practicable, permanently remove all copies of your Personal Information from our systems, except to the extent necessary to comply with laws or where such information is retained for legitimate business purposes as contemplated in the Privacy Act.

c. Your obligations. You warrant that you will not provide Thomson Reuters with any Personal Information except where you have all rights required by Privacy Laws to do so, including having obtained all necessary consents and provided all necessary collection notices.

d. International transfers. You expressly acknowledge and consent to: (i) us transferring and disclosing Personal Information you provide to us to the global Thomson Reuters group of companies and our third-party service providers, including those located outside of Australia, to the extent required to provide the products and services; and (ii) such overseas recipients storing and processing such Personal Information provided by you on servers outside Australia. Overseas recipients may be located in countries including, but not limited to, New Zealand, Singapore, India, the Philippines, Canada, USA, United Kingdom, Costa Rica and Argentina.

e. Response to Data Breach. If either party becomes aware of, or suspects there has been, any loss of, unauthorized access to or use or disclosure of, or breaches of security in relation to, any Personal Information in connection with this Agreement ("Data Breach"), that party must, as soon as possible, notify the other party of the actual or potential Data Breach. Each of us agrees to cooperate in good faith in relation to the investigation and assessment of the relevant Data Breach, and in relation to any notifications required to be made under Privacy Law to affected individuals and to the Office of the Australian Information Commissioner or an equivalent local or foreign regulator (each a Regulatory Authority). Generally, if a Data Breach occurs on our systems and impacts Personal Information you provide to us as well as other Personal Information provided by our other customers, then we will take primary responsibility for notification (unless otherwise reasonably agreed). Any correspondence with a Regulatory Authority or affected individuals must be in a form that is mutually agreed by both parties (such agreement or approval not to be unreasonably withheld). However, nothing in this Section 5(e) will prevent either of us from complying with our respective obligations under Privacy Laws, including in respect of notifying a Regulatory Authority or affected individuals about a Data Breach.

f. Audits. Upon your written request and no more than once per year during the term of the Agreement, Thomson Reuters will allow for and contribute to audits conducted by you or an external auditor selected by you in the form of providing answers to a reasonable questionnaire with respect to Thomson Reuters's processing of Personal Information. At your expense and to the extent a more extensive audit is granted by Thomson Reuters, then the parties agree to negotiate, in good faith, a statement of work that outlines the scope and time frames of the audit.

6. CONFIDENTIALITY

Each party agrees to (i) protect any Confidential Information received from the other party using the same standard of care it uses to protect its own Confidential Information (which shall be no less than a reasonable degree of care) and (ii) not disclose any part of it to any third party except to its Affiliates, contractors, financial advisors, accountants and attorneys who are subject to legal privilege or confidentiality duties or obligations to the recipient that are no less restrictive than the terms and conditions of the Agreement. If a court or government agency orders either of us to disclose the Confidential Information of the other, the other will be promptly notified so that an appropriate protective order or other remedy can be obtained unless the court or government agency prohibits prior notification. These obligations of confidentiality do not apply to information which: (a) is or becomes generally available to the public (through no act or omission of the receiving party); (b) becomes known to the receiving party on a non-confidential basis through a third party who is not subject to an obligation of confidentiality with respect to that information; (c) was lawfully in the possession of the receiving party prior to such disclosure as established by documentary evidence; or (d) is independently developed by the receiving party, as established by documentary evidence, without reference to or use of, in whole or in part, any of the disclosing party's Confidential Information. This section shall survive three (3) years after the termination of the Agreement or until the Confidential Information is no longer deemed confidential under applicable law, whichever occurs first. In the event of any breach of the confidentiality provisions of this Section 6, the non-breaching party may be irreparably and immediately harmed and might not be made whole by monetary damages. The non-breaching party may be entitled to seek equitable relief by way of injunction, specific performance or similar remedy in addition to any other remedies that may be available to it from a court of competent jurisdiction to prevent or restrain breaches of this Section.
